NEWS OF THE AEROHELP INSTITUTE

We are pleased to announce that on January 28, 2019, new edition of the International Comparative Legal Guide: Aviation Law 2019 was published.

AEROHELP Law office as the representative of the aviation industry from Russia prepared the chapter on aviation regulation in the Russian jurisdiction. You can familiarize yourself with the online version of the Guide, as well as order a printed publication at <https://iclg.com/practice-areas/aviation-laws-and-regulations>.

LEGISLATION: OVERVIEW OF CHANGES IN JANUARY 2019

Among January legislative news should be mentioned the Act of the Government of Russian Federation as of January 25, 2019 which approves the Rules of subsidizing the MS-21 new generation aircraft manufacturers. The Rules define the “new generation aircraft” as Russian short-and medium-haul narrow-body passenger aircraft of the MS-21 line with passenger capacity from 135 to 211 people and (or) with a maximum take-off weight from 65 to 80 tons (its modifications).

The subsidies will finance aircraft creation, production, realization and technical maintenance. The Rules also provide that the subsidies will cover 90% of the costs and expenses incurred starting from January 01, 2019. In addition, some changes of technical nature were made to several Federal aviation rules and some other Orders of the Ministry of transport of Russian Federation.
